Letter from Nicole Galloway

Throughout 2021, even as the COVID-19 pandemic continued to challenge Missouri families, my office remained focused on delivering results for taxpayers. The State Auditor's Office released 134 reports in 2021 that held government accountable to you — the citizens we serve.

As your State Auditor, I am dedicated to being a strong, independent watchdog for all Missourians. Taxpayers deserve to get the most from their government. And each day I bring my experience as a certified public accountant and certified fraud examiner to do just that.

Our audit reports reveal evidence of theft and abuse of taxpayer dollars, highlight inefficiencies in government and bring to light mismanagement affecting services to the public. These audits get results, including changes to operations, more effective processes, and, at times, criminal charges brought against public officials. Since 2015, our audits have identified more than $380 million in government waste, fraud, abuse and mismanagement.

My dedicated team works to hold government at all levels accountable, and I am proud of our integrity and professionalism. Approximately two-thirds of my staff have advanced degrees or certifications within the auditing field. My office continues to receive the highest ratings in independent reviews of audit processes and office operations. I've run my office under budget every year, returning more than $3.9 million to taxpayers in the process.

It is an honor to serve as your advocate and watchdog, ensuring government at all levels is efficient, effective and transparent..

Duties of the State Auditor

The State Auditor's Office is Missouri's independent watchdog for taxpayers. The Missouri Constitution and state law give the State Auditor authority to audit:

- All state agencies, boards and commissions
- Public employee retirement systems
- Public employee healthcare systems
- The state court system
- School districts
- Counties that do not have a county auditor
- Other political subdivisions upon petition by the voters of those subdivisions

The State Auditor's Office works to ensure the proper use of public funds and to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of Missouri government.

Audits examine financial accountability; look for waste, abuse and fraud; and evaluate whether government organizations and programs are achieving their purposes and operating economically and efficiently. All audits are performed in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

Since 2015, more than $380 million has been uncovered in government waste, fraud, abuse and mismanagement.

Audits and investigations have resulted in 80 criminal charges against public officials.

Fighting Fraud and Abuse

Auditor Galloway launched her Public Corruption and Fraud Division in 2019. The team - a dedicated group of attorneys, auditors and investigators - has a demonstrated history of working with local, state and federal law enforcement to pursue justice for taxpayers. Office led audits and investigations have resulted in 80 criminal charges against public officials.

St. Louis College Prep Charter School

In a case where a 2019 audit uncovered falsified records, the former executive director of a now-closed St. Louis charter school was ordered to pay more than $2.3 million in restitution to the state. Michael Malone, who pleaded guilty to federal fraud charges, also was sentenced to a year in prison. Auditor Galloway worked with the U.S. Attorney's Office and FBI on the criminal investigation.

City of Coffey

The former Coffey city clerk was sentenced to 15 years in prison and ordered to pay restitution in 2021. A 2018 audit found that Mary Lou Browning had stolen more than $60,000 from the small northwest Missouri town.

City of Forsyth

An audit of Forsyth in 2021 that gave a rating of "poor" found the city was missing more than $3,400 and that proper financial oversight was lacking. Auditor Galloway worked with local law enforcement, and a stealing charge was brought against former utility clerk Carla D. Combs in early 2022. A follow-up report found city officials had made progress after the audit to better protect public funds.

City of Center

Tracey Ray, the former city clerk of Center, was ordered to repay $314,889 to the Ralls County community after being sentenced on federal charges. Ray, who also was sentenced to 18 months in prison, used the stolen city funds to pay credit card bills and other personal expenses, Auditor Galloway had determined. A follow-up report found some progress made on the audit recommendations, but more was needed.

Plattsburg Special Road District

A whistleblower complaint to the Auditor's Office and a subsequent audit of the Plattsburg Special Road District in 2019 found that taxpayers were defrauded of more than $286,000. In 2021, former secretary/treasurer Ava Langner was ordered by a federal judge to repay more than $100,000 after she pleaded guilty to theft.

HOW WE INVESTIGATE

Audits get results

City of Parma

Current city officials in the southeast town of Parma are implementing state audit recommendations, a follow-up report found. The 2020 audit, which discovered more than $115,000 was misappropriated, resulted in criminal charges against three former city officials. Auditor Galloway said the follow-up report showed the city was moving in the right direction to restore public trust.

City of Bel-Ridge

A 2020 audit of Bel-Ridge, in north St. Louis County, found several concerns with the city's financial condition, including poor budget work and inadequate monitoring of finances. When auditors returned for a follow-up review, they found city officials were implementing the audit's recommendations - the kind of response Auditor Galloway said made local government more effective for taxpayers.

City of Monroe City

After a citizen-initiated audit gave Monroe City a ranking of "poor," the State Auditor's Office conducted a follow-up review to measure progress on the audit recommendations. That report found while some recommendations were implemented, other concerns remained, including the paying of bonuses. Auditor Galloway urged city officials to move forward with all of the recommendations.

City of Edgar Springs

Serious concerns remained about progress on addressing the findings of an audit of the city of Edgar Springs in Phelps County. The follow-up report to the audit found city officials had not implemented most of the audit's recommendations, including preparing and maintaining accurate financial statements.

New Madrid County

A follow-up review of New Madrid County found that county officials had addressed many of the findings in a 2020 audit that gave a rating of "poor." The most significant finding of the audit was that unpaid payroll taxes had cost county taxpayers more than $50,000. The follow-up report determined that issue and others raised by the audit had been addressed.

We receive information on allegations of improper governmental activities

Information is submitted to the State Auditor's Whistleblower Hotline. Under state law, individuals who make a report may choose to remain anonymous until they affirmatively consent to having their identity disclosed.

We review the submitted information

Each year, we receive hundreds of tips from citizens, public employees and government officials. When information is received, it is reviewed for relevance and completeness. Whistleblowers who provide contact information may be contacted for additional information.

We investigate the allegations

When allegations of fraud or abuse are reported, the Public Corruption and Fraud Division will complete an initial review to determine if allegations are credible. If not deemed credible or if insufficient documentation is provided, the case is closed. If deemed credible, the next step of the investigation proceeds.

The State Auditor's Whistleblower Hotline is a resource to report potential wrongdoing.

Whistleblowers can submit information by emailing moauditeauditor.mo.gov, calling toll-free 1-800-347-8597 or using an online reporting form at auditor.mo.gov

Ensuring Accountability

Keeping Missourians informed about how federal COVID-19 relief funding is used

Shortly after Missouri began receiving federal funding for COVID-19 relief in 2020, Auditor Galloway announced efforts to give taxpayers a detailed look at the state's distribution and spending of those funds. In 2021, her office continued to issue monthly reports detailing state government's use of billions of federal dollars, both for response efforts under the CARES Act and for recovery efforts under the more recent American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act.

In addition, a website from the State Auditor's Office (auditor.mo.gov/covidtracking) offers Missourians a detailed look at expenditures. The page tracks not only how much is received and expended in relief funds, it also lists which state and local government departments, vendors and expense categories are receiving the most funding.

Auditor again calls for review of corporate tax break

In an audit on the collection of sales and use tax by the Department of Revenue, Auditor Galloway again highlighted how Missouri retailers were able to keep $129 million in sales and use tax they collected just for paying their sales taxes on time.

The discount is the most generous in the nation and a benefit ordinary Missourians don't receive for paying their taxes on time. Auditor Galloway urged lawmakers to take a serious look at limiting what she said was a corporate giveaway that meant millions of dollars lost that could be used to fix roads, pay law enforcement, and improve the lives of Missourians.

In 2021, Missouri lawmakers did take action to allow for collecting sales tax on online purchases from out-of-state sellers. For several years, Auditor Galloway had urged legislators to close the loophole, which she said put Missouri retailers at a competitive disadvantage.

Ensuring that property tax rates comply with state law

After a Missouri appeals court ruling determined property taxes could not be set at rates above what voters approved, Auditor Galloway sent notices to almost 600 taxing authorities to inform them that their tax rates needed to be changed. Local government entities are solely responsible for setting their tax rates; those rates are reviewed by the State Auditor's Office to determine if the rates comply with state law.

Total Expended

Setting an Example

Commitment to transparency

In 2020, Auditor Galloway announced that Sunshine Law requests submitted to her office, and responses to those requests, would be publicly available online and free of charge. More than 200,000 pages of responsive documents and materials can be viewed online at auditor.mo.gov/SunshineLaw/Postings.

Sunshine Law requests made to the State Auditor's Office and corresponding responses can be reviewed by year from August 2015 to the present. New requests and responses are posted on a rolling basis. This practice is the first of its kind by a Missouri statewide elected official.

Work life balance

Throughout her time as a statewide official, Auditor Galloway has advocated for family-friendly policies. In 2017, she made changes to her own office leave policies to allow for bonding time after the birth or adoption of a child. Additionally, her office was a leader in ensuring domestic violence is a covered leave category under existing workplace protections. In 2020, Auditor Galloway expanded these policies to allow her employees to take up to 12 weeks of paid parental leave after the birth or adoption of a child. Auditor Galloway then issued a letter to the Governor calling on him to enact these updated family-friendly policies, which mirror those signed into law in 2020 for federal employees.

Good stewardship of taxpayer dollars

At the end of Fiscal Year 2021, Auditor Galloway announced she returned $1.6 million from her office's budget. At the end of the last seven fiscal years, she returned a total of more than $3.9 million from her budget to the General Revenue Fund. This is possible because of the efforts by Auditor Galloway to ensure high standards of good stewardship to the office's operations.

Delivering for Taxpayers

Under Missouri law, the State Auditor's office may be called on to audit any political subdivision of the state if enough qualified voters of that political subdivision request the audit.

Anyone can start the process to initiate a petition audit by submitting a Petition Audit Request form to the State Auditor's Office.

“The ability for taxpayers to petition the State Auditor for a comprehensive review of their local government is a powerful tool for citizens to demand accountability and transparency.”

-Nicole Galloway, CPA

Petition Audits Completed in 2021

City of Homestead Village

The small community in Ray County received a rating of "poor" after auditors found more than $4,000 in sewer payments that were received but not deposited by a former city clerk.

Western Cass County Fire Protection District

The audit of the financial practices of the Western Cass County Fire Protection District gave a rating of "fair," with several recommendations relating to spending and budgeting to district officials.

City of Excelsior Springs

The audit of Excelsior Springs recommended improvements to several of the city's financial practices to help ensure taxpayer dollars are used efficiently.

Marshall Public Schools

The audit revealed weaknesses in accounting controls over fees and concession receipts, as well as a need for better oversight from the Board of Education regarding salaries, stipends and purchasing.

Thorough, Comprehensive Reviews

Jackson County

In early 2021, Auditor Galloway released the final report on Jackson County, the second-most populous county in Missouri. The review of the county assessment department found several problems that the Auditor's Office recommended be addressed to ensure better oversight of the assessment process. County officials indicated they were moving forward with the recommendations. Auditor Galloway released four reports on county operations in 2020 that also gave recommendations to ensure transparency and more effective use of taxpayer dollars. The audits of Jackson County government finances was initiated by a request from the county legislature.

Greene County

The final audit in the review of Greene County found that taxpayers paid more than $25,000 in legal invoices related to an ethics complaint; the invoices were sent to the personal address of the now-former presiding commissioner. The same commissioner also used his official county e-mail to encourage other county employees to engage in campaign activity around a sales tax measure.

In December 2017, Auditor Galloway asked the county commission to authorize an audit into whistleblower allegations that public resources were misused to advocate for the ballot measure. The then-commission did not grant the request, and it was only after two new commissioners were elected that the audit could begin in 2019. Auditor Galloway thanked the current commissioners for their cooperation.

City of St. Louis

The City of St. Louis Board of Aldermen requested a comprehensive audit of the City of St. Louis. In 2021, Auditor Galloway issued three reports on offices and city departments. These reports covered the Office of License Collector, Sheriff, and Department of Human Services.

These reports followed the issuance of eight audits of city operations in 2020, plus a report on the city's use of Tax Increment Financing (TIF) for redevelopment projects. The comprehensive audit of the city of St. Louis government remains ongoing and reports will be issued on all city departments and elected offices.

Clay County

An audit of Clay County government was initiated after a citizen petition was submitted to the State Auditor's Office. The Clay County Commission filed a lawsuit to prevent the Auditor from conducting the citizen-mandated audit, but a court ruling dismissed the lawsuit and confirmed the Auditor's legal authority. Throughout 2021, the office worked to complete the audit of the operations of the former Clay County Commission, with the final report issued in early 2022.

In 2020, the State Auditor's Office released reports on the Clay County clerk, public administrator and recorder of deeds. In 2021, the office released the report on the Clay County Sheriff. In February 2022, all audit work on the comprehensive petition audit of Clay County government was completed with the release of the report on the Clay County Commission.
